

Breaking Through: A Therapy Group for Men

Feeling anxious, unmotivated, and stuck in your life? Do worries, hopelessness, or confusion hold you back from achieving your goals? You are not alone! Many men experience challenges in their career, education, and relationships in the context of anxiety and depression.

In this 10 week group, you will learn:

- Cutting edge cognitive-behavioral techniques to bolster resiliencies for self-confidence, reduce hopelessness, and increase goal oriented behaviors
- Relaxation and mindfulness techniques to reduce anxiety and manage stress
 - Strategies to tame anger and irritability
 - Methods to increase focus and motivation

In contrast to what occurs in individual therapy, by being a part of a group you will learn from the triumphs and challenges of your peers, while using your own strengths to help yourself and others.
